6 DIRECTORS NAMED FOR HIGH MUSEUM

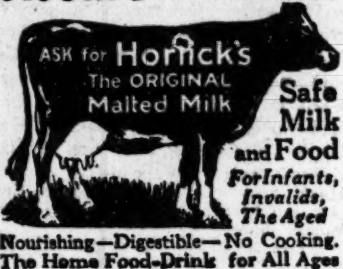

The appointment of six associate directors of the High Museum of Art was announced Monday by J. Carroll Payne, who declared that the museum's sponsors were doing everything in their power to impress upon the people of Atlanta that "the institution belongs to them and is a part and parcel of the city's life." The new directors are Mayor Walter A. Sims, Paul B. Etheridge, chairman of the Fulton county commission; Edwin Johnson, superintendent of public works for the county; William A. Sutton, superintendent of public schools; J. J. Orme, chairman of the city finance committee; Mrs. Norman Sharp, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's clubs; and Arthur Neil Robinson, president of the Georgia chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Open in October. Mr. Payne announced that a meeting of these new directors probably would be held Wednesday, with a view of discussing plans for the opening of the museum in October and furtherance of its plans for expansion and development. These offices will be represented on the board of directors throughout the life of the museum, in order that city and county may have a part in the institution's work.

It is not our plan to have only a place for the exhibition of beautiful pictures," Mr. Payne said, "but found an institution for the pleasure and instruction of everyone. We want the people of Atlanta to realize that the museum is for them and that the men and women who guide its civic and social life are actively interested in its development. "As soon as we possibly can we will found a school of design for the purpose of teaching industrial art—free to all students from the high schools of Atlanta. They will be taught to work in clay, to design and produce pottery and china pieces; to work in copper, brass, to design in wrought iron and steel. The industrial school will cover all these branches fully, including courses in designing fabrics, such as voile and chiffon. There will be a department for construction and design of furniture, in fact, every department of commercial art will be represented and given to Atlanta children absolutely without cost.

Chance for Georgia. "There is no such school in Atlanta, and it is a pity, when it is considered that the finest kaolin clay in the world is mined right here in our own state. The manufacturers in the east buy our clay at $10 a

PROMINENT CITIZEN DIES AT DUBLIN

Dublin, Ga., August 9.—(Special.) Zollicoffer Whitehurst, 54, died at his home here this morning.

Mr. Whitehurst was a native of Wilkinson county. He graduated from Georgia Tech in 1892 with high honors, and was a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. For several years he taught in Tennesse, Ga., but came to Dublin 24 years ago and opened a drug business.

He served for 12 years as county school superintendent. He was a member of the Methodist church and a citizen of high ideals and splendid character.

Surviving are his widow, who was Miss Minnie Edge; two daughters, Mrs. Yates Little, of Hendersonville, N. C.; Miss Emily Whitehurst, of Dublin, and several sons, Z. Whitehurst, Jr., of Columbus, Ga.; Everett and Berry Whitehurst, of Dublin; a brother, C. Whitehurst, of Dublin; three sisters, Mrs. W. D. Bridger, of Atlanta; Mrs. T. K. Myrick, and Mrs. L. J. Rozar, of Milledgeville.

Funeral services will be held from the Whitehurst home Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

ton, Z. O. B. Macon, and in turn sell it back to us in the shape of vases, plates, and candle-sticks. I saw one candlestick made of Georgia clay, which weighed four ounces and which brought a price of $14. The head of this plant told me that the boy who designed the piece was a Georgia boy and received a salary of $150 a week for his work. There was no school in Georgia for him to get his training and it was necessary for him to go to Cleveland and Cincinnati. "There are hundreds of boys and girls in this state who are anxious to follow these lines of endeavor and we are going to give them a place here at home where they may prepare themselves for the work."

Three Candidates Run for Congress In Seventh District

Rome, Ga., August 9.—(AP)—Entries for the seventh district congressional primary closed Saturday at noon with three candidates for the democratic nomination qualified in all of the 13 counties in the district. They are: Judge M. S. Tarver, of Dalton, Whitefield county, judge of the Cherokee superior court circuit; W. W. Mundy, of Cedartown, former state senator and former governor of the Georgia district of Kiwanis international, and Claude H. Porter, former representative in the general assembly from Floyd county and former solicitor general of the Rome circuit of superior court.

Judge Tarver entered the race before Congressman Gordon Lee, of Chickamauga, announced that he had withdrawn from the race and would not seek reelection. Mr. Lee is now completing his 11th consecutive term as congressman from this district.

Mr. Mundy and Mr. Porter announced the day following the withdrawal of Mr. Lee.

Mr. Porter sought the democratic nomination for congress eight years ago against Mr. Lee, but Mr. Mundy has never been a candidate for this position before. The race is being pressed vigorously by all of the candidates.

A NEW STANDARD OF BREAD QUALITY IN ATLANTA

Uneven Baking ~ the Cause of Varying Quality in Bread ~
Now Overcome!

NO LONGER need you be uncertain about day-to-day quality in bread. Now you can be absolutely sure. The cause of varying quality—uneven baking—has been overcome.

At a cost of thousands of dollars, the Atlanta Baking Company has installed the new-type, gas-fired baking oven [shown above] with heat controlled, carrying the loaves on conveyor pans until they are perfectly baked—every loaf exactly alike!

How It Improves the Taste

Ordinary brick ovens simply could not bring out all the flavor of the ingredients in Bamby bread. With this new baking process you get the full flavor of the milk, the pure creamery butter shortening, the wheaty taste of the flour.

We couldn't improve the ingredients, so in order to give you a still better loaf, we have made the biggest improvement in baking in the history of Atlanta bread making!

EXPORTS OF U. S. GOLD
TO GERMANY RESUMED

New York, August 9.—(AP)—The export movement of gold to Germany, which reached large proportions shortly after the flotation of the $140,000,000 German loan here in 1924, has been resumed with a consignment of $2,500,000 forwarded late last week. Additional shipments probably will be made from time to time by the Federal Reserve bank of New York to the German Reichsbank, which will use the gold to fortify its reserves. Approximately half the proceeds of the German loan were transferred to the Reichsbank for this purpose late in 1924 and early in 1925.

Federal Reserve bank officials today issued the following statement in explanation of the gold movement: "We are authorized by the Reich-bank to state that shipments now being made to Germany are a part of the reserve of earmarked gold long held by the Federal Reserve bank of New York, for the account of the Reichsbank. These shipments are made exactly as in the former case, out of gold accumulated in our hands and certified as earmarked gold reserve held abroad by the Reichsbank. The British are the world's greatest importers of meat.

An application for a charter for a new bank at Butler, Ga., to be capitalized at $15,000, and to be known as the Citizens State bank, has been filed with the secretary of state, it was announced today.

The Citizens State bank, a branch of which will be established at Butler with the granting of the charter, already operates under that name in Reynolds.

Those signing the application for a charter were J. R. Adams, E. E. Jarrell, C. H. Neisler, J. H. Neisler, and J. F. Posey, who, Mr. Jarrell said, would constitute the board of directors of the Butler bank. C. H. Neisler is president of the Citizens State bank.

HEAVY DOCKETS CROWD
CITY POLICE COURTS

Unusually heavy dockets with 275 cases scheduled for trial in the day and night courts were faced Monday by Recorder A. W. Callaway, of the first division, and Murphy M. Holloway, of the second division. While most of the cases were of a petty nature, Recorder Callaway was kept busy in handling the 223 cases on docket for trial at the 8:30 o'clock and 2:30 o'clock sessions. In the night session Recorder Holloway faced a docket of 50 cases.

PHI MU HEALTHMOBILE
AGAIN SERVING STATE

With the contribution by the Phi Mu sorority of a $3,000 maintenance fund, the state board of health put the Phi Mu "healthmobile" back into operation Monday. The board had no appropriation for upkeep and work of the health car, and its tours were suspended several months ago. A schedule has been arranged for the healthmobile for the next few weeks on a basis of one day for each 1,000 persons in a county. The car started in Taliaferro county Monday, from where it was to proceed to Warren, McDuffie, Lincoln, Columbia and Richmond counties.

The Phi Mu car is in charge of Dr. Alvin Gwin, of Oxford, Ala., who is assisted in his work by a trained nurse and a chauffeur. Free health examinations are given to mothers and to children under the age of seven years. Moving picture exhibitions illustrating practical lessons in hygiene, together with health lectures will be given daily.

The Phi Mu sorority, founded at Wesleyan college 75 years ago, is one of the largest sororities of the present day, and is raising an endowment fund of $50,000 for the annual operation of the healthmobile.

Howard To Offer
'Midnight Matinee'
On Tuesday Morn

At 12:01 a. m. next Tuesday—if you don't recognize the time easily, you may understand better by putting it at one minute past midnight next Monday night—the Howard theater will present the first of a series of midnight matinees, planned by the Publix management, for the enlivening of Atlanta's early morning hours.

The innovation will be the first of midnight bright lights for Atlanta and it is believed mark the beginning of a new era in entertainment circles for this city.

Next Tuesday morning, John Murray Anderson's troupe of Publick Frolickers, who have appeared in thirteen of the biggest cities in the country and received the acclaim of theatergoers in each one of the thirteen, will stage a midnight frolic. There will be thirty high-kicking performers in the cast and the program—that is a secret which will only be divulged when the curtain parts before the popping eyes of the early morning audience.

Therefore, the usual midnight habits of the downtown street will be joined, next Tuesday, by a crowd of sheilas and sheiks flocking to the new idea in amusement. The entertainment, it is announced, will last for two hours. Tickets will be sold at the Howard box office preceding all performances this week.

SHOWERS TO CONTINUE,
SAYS FORECASTER

Showers will dot the southeast for the next day or two, due to a depression in the lower Mississippi river region, and Atlanta will get her share, according to C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist.

The rains will not be heavy," he said, "but showers may be expected here throughout the day. The rain here will be just a part of what will be received in all parts of the south."

The thermometer will do its usual work without going to the extreme. The highest temperature Monday was 80 degrees and the lowest recorded was 74 degrees.

That they may carry on

Look into the face of your boy or girl.

There's fine stuff there—that lift of the head is pride—there is intelligence in the level eyes.

A man or woman of the South—in the making.

Our children live in a day of high pressure. The South has taken its place in the front ranks of industry. Modern methods of manufacture, scientific farming, improved transportation—all are factors in building the industrial South. This development brings with it many changes in our customs and habits.

But we must hold fast to the idealism of the Old South—the ideal of useful and intelligent citizenship. The children must carry it on.

This is primarily a matter of education.

The average year's pay of teachers in elementary and secondary schools in the states of the South served by the Southern is only $637. Southern Railway System, which pays three million dollars per annum in school taxes, ventures to express the view that greater material rewards should be enjoyed by the men and women upon whom rests the responsibility of teaching the children of the South.

"—knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

WHAT IS PASTEURIZATION?

A scientific method of purifying raw milk, which today is universally acknowledged to be the most important protective process ever developed.

HOW IS PEDIGREE MILK
PASTEURIZED?

Raw milk, from selected herds and inspected dairies, is heated to 145 degrees Fahrenheit and kept at this temperature for 30 minutes. Then it is chilled and kept in ice until used.

WHAT DOES PASTEURIZING DO?

Pasteurizing kills all the harmful bacilli that might be found in the raw milk, but does not harm the friendly bacilli.

DOES PASTEURIZATION CHANGE THE QUALITY OF MILK IN ANY WAY?

No! Pasteurization has absolutely no effect on milk, but only on the bacteria that might be in it. Pasteurization will not make poor milk rich. It merely makes all milk pure. That's why we are so careful to secure only the richest milk obtainable to start with.

WHY SHOULD I INSIST ON PEDIGREE PASTEURIZED

Because in demanding Pedigree Pasteurized Milk you protect your family from any possible contamination through your milk supply.

WHERE CAN I OBTAIN PEDIGREE

What WILL Prevent Tooth Decay?

See how scientific facts are taking the place of misleading claims and confusion only

IN ITS RECENT examination of nearly 17,000 policy holders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, the Life Extension Institute dealt a body blow to pyorrhea-panic by finding that only 1 in 20 had pyorrhea—only 7.4% at the age of highest susceptibility.

Again, such an authority as Dr. Thaddeus P. Hyatt, Dental Director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, points out that the wholesale loss of teeth from childhood on can be greatly reduced by proper preventive measures in early life.

The first permanent molars of most children, he explains, have fissures that cannot be reached by a toothbrush. Food particles hide themselves in these cracks and ferment, and decay obtains a foothold.

Fill these fissures promptly before decay sets in—then only the twice-daily use of a good, safe dentifrice will be needed to keep every tooth thoroughly clean, healthy and sound.

Don't be confused or led astray by claims having no scientific basis.

Don't reasonably expect self-applied medication to arrest or prevent decay in teeth that can be saved only by expert operative dentistry.

Don't reasonably expect more from a dentifrice than to keep your teeth clean, white, polished and beautiful. And be sure that it does even these things safely.

Don't gamble with dentifrices at the expense of your teeth and gums. The favorite of dentists themselves is DR. LYON'S.

DR. LYON'S is not the best because it is the oldest, but the oldest because it is the best.

It is an eminently fine, sensible, sure, safe dentifrice for protecting the enamel from the inroads of film, tartar and the bacteria of decay. It preserves the teeth, and keeps them white and gleamingly beautiful.

For 60 years, DR. LYON'S has been building the confidence that millions now place in it. And its really delicious flavor lures heedless youngsters into the twice-a-day toothbrushing and toothkeeping habit.

UPSHAW WORKERS VOICE CONFIDENCE

The Uphaw campaign committee Monday issued a statement from its headquarters in which it was claimed that results of meetings held in DeKalb, Fulton and Campbell counties Saturday have been gratifying and confidence in the reelection of Congressman W. D. Uphaw was freely predicted.

The statement follows:
"The echoes from our speaking dates in DeKalb, Fulton and Campbell on Saturday have been highly gratifying. The reception accorded Congressman Uphaw, Honorable J. R. Bachman, former alderman of Atlanta, and Mrs. Marvin Williams, vice president of the Georgia Woman's Christian Temperance union, was notable and enthusiastic at Lithonia. A large number of ladies were present in addition to the men who came from all sections of the county, as a special tribute to the Fifth district congressman who was the only member of the Georgia delegation in Congress who voted for equal suffrage."

Kansas City (Special).—An outstanding invention which many users agree, has no equal for relief of groin rupture, is the latest accomplishment of the well-known Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrew Kaiser, 1225 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. From nearly every section of the country comes extraordinary praise for the invention. It has no hard gougings, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no cruel pinching steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. According to their enthusiastic reports, it has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away their old trusses and enjoy freedom from their previous torture. Many of these had double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Kaiser's ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and benefit of his invention, and he will send it on trial to any reader of The Constitution who writes him. that Powers had never been sent to the farm, but was still being held in Fulton Tower. Upon learning this, he said, he issued a second order that Powers be returned immediately to the prison farm.

It was disclosed Sunday night that Powers was brought back to testify before the grand jury in the Donaldson case and that Judge E. D. Thomas, Fulton superior court judge, signed the order on request of Solicitor Boykin and on approval of the state prison commission.

Solicitor Boykin first applied to Judge Patterson, of the state prison board, for an order to return Powers, but he notified the solicitor that the proper procedure would be to obtain an order from a superior court judge. When this was done, the prison commission instructed Warden Dunaway at the prison farm to allow Powers to be brought back to Atlanta under guard.

Habeas Corpus Hearing Today.
Discussing the Powers escape Monday Solicitor Boykin said that he had Powers brought here in the hope that because of his connections with confidence men, who are believed to have been responsible for Donaldson's death, Powers might be able to throw some light on the case.

The solicitor admitted that he was now convinced that Powers knows nothing about the case, and that as soon as he is recaptured he will be sent back to the prison farm in Millieville. The solicitor said he had hoped that Powers could throw some light on the case and that he could Reviews Records.

"Mr. Russell reviewed the legislative and administrative records of both Mr. Steele and Mr. Sims and declared that there was nothing notable or constructive in either. He said that no bill of worth while legislation in Georgia bears the name of Steele as its author, and he further declared that Mr. Sims had reversed himself on his pre-election campaign pledges to 'make the police department as clean as a hound's tooth' and to battle for the rights of the masses against corporate encroachments. He declared that his veto of the salaries of policemen and firemen and his effort to cut off the pensions of worthy and needy disabled city employees showed his lack of sympathy for the toiling masses."

"Judge Hatfield declared that in making his first political speech he had been moved to offer his services to Congressman Uphaw because of the fearless and energetic record he had made in serving his constituents from every standpoint and especially as the champion of every form of righteous legislation. In a searching and graphic picture of the foundations of our national life he said that moral character and personal example on the part of our public men is the supremest need of this generation, and that Congressman Uphaw has personally proven his right to lead by his fidelity to constitutional law and his inspiring personal example before the youth of the nation."

"The unanimous report of The Flying Squadron to Campbell was that Congressman Uphaw would carry Campbell by a vote larger even than his usual majority."

MRS. ABE POWERS PUT UNDER ARREST

Powers called and got in touch with the woman to whom he talked. In our investigation we took her and the man into custody but found that neither of them knew anything about the case. We found that this woman did not even know Powers, but he knew that she was acquainted with a woman he wished to communicate with. This woman, we ascertained, was out of the city, the sheriff concluded.

Appeals To Merchants.
"Evidence discovered indicates that the shotgun used in the murder of Donaldson was wrapped in a piece of black oil cloth," Solicitor Boykin stated Monday, "and I would like to hear from any merchant in Atlanta who sold such an article to any stranger or anyone anytime recently, prior to the murder which occurred July 29."

"Evidence also shows that a 20-gauge shotgun was used, the same being loaded with buckshot. I would like to hear from any merchant selling shells of this nature shortly before the murder. Indications point to the fact that the shell used was originally loaded with small shot, the top was being removed and the small shot emptied out and reloaded with number two buckshot. Any one selling this kind of shell or number two buckshot may be able to throw some light on this matter," the solicitor added.

Powers Believed Here.
"I wish to take this opportunity to thank the newspapers and the hotels in Atlanta for the splendid cooperation afforded this office," Solicitor Boykin continued. "There has been no let-up in our efforts to bring the guilty parties to justice and I ask the newspapers, the hotels and the public to aid us in every way possible in clearing up this murder."

In commenting on the escape of Abe Powers, Sheriff Lowry Monday declared that he has every reason to believe that Powers is still in Atlanta and that his capture will result in a very short time.

The arrest of a man and a woman, whose identity was being carefully guarded, who had been held since early Monday morning in connection with Powers' escape, have been released, Sheriff Lowry announced. It was only after they had been thoroughly grilled and were found not to know anything of an alleged plot to aid Powers in his get-away, that they were released.

An inquiry of the case was also being conducted Monday by Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, Judge Humphries signed an order sending Powers back to the state prison farm when he was returned to Atlanta after being captured by Bert Donaldson.

Judge Humphries stated that he did not know that Powers had been returned to Atlanta from the farm until he read in the morning paper that he had escaped from Fulton jail. To Aid in Probe.

he induced the more readily to aid in the investigation in the hope that he might be paroled. The road was authorized to abandon the track unless it can be sold for not less than $200,000 within 30 days. The applicant declared the line could not be operated without continued loss of revenue.

Took Key From Case.
Powers, the debarred lieutenant of Floyd Woodward, leader of the Atlanta bunco ring, effected his escape Sunday by taking the key to the automobile gate opening on Butler street from the case in the jail office and calmly letting himself out while deputy sheriffs and other jail attaches were in the lobby.

It was erroneously stated that Powers was allowed to assist the jailers with their books at the tower, J. C. Bazemore, head jailer, said Monday. He was allowed the privileges of a trusty, but was not permitted to leave the jail. Each day he was brought from his cell and allowed to walk around in the jail lobby. "He has never made one scratch on the books at the jail," Mr. Bazemore said. "None of the prisoners or trusties is allowed to touch the books."

Rewards totaling $7,500 already have been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the slaying of Donaldson. The largest single offer is made by The Constitution, which will give $2,500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer. A $1,000 reward was offered by Robert A. Gordon on Monday.

Rail Abandonment Approved

Washington, August 9.—Conditional authority to abandon that part of its line in Escombria county, Florida, and Baldwin county, Alabama, was given the Gulf Ports Terminal

HEARING STARTED ON VIADUCT SUIT

Hearing on the petition for permanent injunction to prevent the city of Atlanta from beginning work on the viaduct at Central avenue and Pryor street, will be resumed at 9 o'clock this morning before Judge Samuel H. Sibley in the United States district court.

Evidence for the plaintiff was presented Monday but was not completed and no evidence for the city was given. The petition was filed by Thomas R. Brady, a citizen of California but a taxpayer in Atlanta. He is represented by Attorney George Spence.

Mr. Brady claims that property on Central avenue which is owned by him will suffer damage by the building of the viaduct and that the bond issue does not provide for payment of damages. The city won its first skirmish in the case when Judge Sibley refused to sign a temporary injunction at the preliminary hearing on July 30.

Easy to Gain With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast with Vegetable Iron Builds Up Weight in Three Weeks

This new combination of yeast and vegetable iron, which is easy to take, drives out the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with the vitamins that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a vitamin food, but not until we perfected "Ironized Yeast" which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

"Ironized Yeast" tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore, they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. It makes no difference how old you are—or how young you are—how long you have been under weight—or how much under weight you are, "Ironized Yeast" tablets are positively guaranteed to pick you right up, and add from five to twenty pounds of good, firm flesh in three weeks' time. If they fail get your money back.

Sold by druggists, at $1.00 for a large 60-tablet package, or sent direct from laboratory on receipt of price. Ironized Yeast Co., Desk 200, Atlanta, Ga.—(Adv.)

Entire Remains of Auto That Rammed Train

This wreckage is all that remains of the automobile which was struck by the Flamingo, crack Central of Georgia train, at Campbellton road and Lee street Sunday night. Jack Cox, negro driver, died Monday morning of injuries received in the crash. Three small negro boys, who were riding in the car with him miraculously escaped death or serious injury. One of them was thrown 50 feet from the car, suffering nothing more serious than bruises and fright. Witnesses rushing to the scene had some difficulty in locating the third boy. After several minutes he crawled unscathed from under the wreckage at the spot marked in the picture by the white cross.

ernorship. Governor Terrell, asking renomination, has the indorsement of the Anti-Saloon league leader of the state.

His opponent, Judge Martinale, does not admit being a wet, however, as a group of ministers friendly to him have protested the citation of the Anti-Saloon league chief to throw the election to Governor Terrell. There is little encouragement for Terrell in Arkansas, whatever the result. Senator Caraway will be renominated without material opposition in Alabama. A demagogue nomination is as good as an election certificate.

ROAD BUILDING BECOMES ISSUE.

Birmingham, Ala., August 9.—(AP)

The law's mandates today stopped short the avalanche of dodgers, newspaper advertisements and press notices which carried to the voters the various and sundry pleas of democratic candidates for the United States senate and lesser offices in tomorrow's primary.

At six o'clock this morning—twenty-four hours before the polls open—the publication of all matter which pertained to new issues was halted under terms of Alabama's election law, which takes into account that last minute charges are unfair and cannot be answered. Old issues may be reiterated and statements made on behalf of an individual aspirant so long as they do not reflect upon another candidate or mention directly or indirectly any new issue.

When the dead line was reached, the candidates for senate and governor had completed the most spirited campaign Alabama had known in 12 years. It is predicted that 225,000 votes will be cast.

The candidates for senate who seek Senator Oscar W. Underwood's seat are J. H. Bankhead, Jasper; Hugo L. Black, Birmingham; Thomas E. Kilby, Anniston; James G. Mayfield, Montgomery; and L. B. Musgrove, Jasper. Judge Mayfield finished his campaign with an address at Montgomery tonight. The other candidates returned to their homes to vote and await the outcome. The closing days of the campaign were featured by a furor created by a reported split in the ranks of Ku Klux Klan, a national officer of the order having indorsed Musgrove, while the Alabama branch was said to be supporting Black.

OHIO PRIMARY CAMPAIGN ENDS.

Columbus, Ohio, August 9.—(AP)

Without the usual flareup of eleven-hour charges, the Ohio primary campaign passed into political history tonight.

Tomorrow the voters will choose among 87 republican and democratic candidates for state office nominations; select nominees for congress, the legislature and county offices and express their sentiments on a constitutional amendment.

Seldom has there been bigger fields. On the republican ticket twelve persons, including a woman and a negro, seek the nomination for governor; four after the democratic nomination but Governor Vic Donahy generally is conceded victory.

Twelve republicans and five democrats are aspirants for the nomination for lieutenant governor and there is almost an equal preponderance of candidates for nominations for the various other state offices.

Seven republicans oppose United States Senator Frank B. Willis for renomination, but it was not believed he would have much difficulty in being renominated. Charles Dick, Akron, is former United States senator, is among the seven.

RUN DOWN BY CAR, CHILD BADLY HURT

Belle Johnson, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Johnson, of 209 Virginia avenue, was taken to Georgia Baptist hospital Monday night in a critical condition after being knocked down almost in front of her home by a light coupe driven by Young Fair, 22, of 210 West Peachtree street.

Cartwright, the little girl, in company with her four-year-old brother, Ralph Johnson, ran suddenly in front of the oncoming coupe. The boy was badly bruised and out about the face and was taken to the hospital with his sister.

Fair was arrested on charges of reckless driving and placed under $1,000 bond.

Miss M. Landley, of 256 North Jackson street, was injured Sunday night when an automobile in which she was riding, in company with J. T. Robinson, collided with a taxicab driven by Royce Hardeman, of 33 East Harris street, at Crew street and East Georgia avenue.

Both Robinson and Hardeman were severely shaken up by the impact and taken to Ector and Holland hospitals. The accident, docketed as cases of reckless driving against both drivers.

Jordan Ross, 9, negro, of 928 Welch street, was treated at Grady hospital for injuries he received when knocked down by an automobile at McEwen and Mary streets, according to hospital records.

Robert Robinson, 13, negro, of 153 Larkin street, was said to be driving the automobile which injured the negro boy. No case was made.

HARDWARE HEADS FACE COURT SUITS

Washington, August 9.—(AP)—Anti-trust proceedings were instituted at Richmond, Va., today by the department of justice against the Southern Hardware Jobbers' association and many of the leading hardware concerns in 14 southern states.

The 170 defendants named in the suit are engaged in the wholesale hardware business and are charged with conspiring in restraint of interstate trade and commerce in hardware.

All of the defendants which include 132 corporations, southern firms and individuals are members of the Southern Hardware Jobbers' association with headquarters at Richmond, Va. The government charges that "the paramount object of the defendant jobbers is to bring about uniform prices among themselves and among all jobbers selling hardware in the southern section of the United States in their sales of hardware to retail dealers and to eliminate all competition among such jobbers as to prices."

SOUTHERN HARDWARE JOBBERS NAMED.

Richmond, Va., August 9.—(AP)—The Southern Hardware Jobbers' association and its 171 members, representing 14 southern states in their activity, were made defendants in an anti-trust proceeding instituted in the United States district court here today.

The proceedings, filed under the Sherman act by Miller Hughes, special assistant to the attorney general, named John Donnan, secretary and treasurer of the association, a personal defendant, as the one in active charge of headquarters here at Richmond. Donnan refused to comment at this time upon the suit.

Nine others, officers or directors of the association, were made defendants. The following Georgia firms were named defendants in the suit: The Athens Hardware company, Athens; Beck & Gregg Hardware company, Atlanta; Dinkins-Davidson Hardware company, Atlanta; Dunlap Hardware company, Macon; Griffin-Cantrell Hardware company, Rome; King Hardware company, Atlanta; Palmour Hardware company, Gainesville; Peoples Hardware company, Savannah; Rome Hardware company, Rome; Sharp-Lachey-Horsey company, Atlanta; Strickland Hardware company, Valdosta.

Atlanta Concerns. Local members of the Southern Hardware Jobbers' association Monday declined to comment on the action of the government in filing anti-trust proceedings against the organization in Richmond. They declared that they have not yet been officially apprised of the nature of the suit and therefore could not discuss it intelligently. A statement, when a full report of the litigation is received in Atlanta, is probable, it was stated.

How Central of Georgia Railway Aids In Development of Territory It Serves

The Central of Georgia Railway recognizes that its first duty to the public is to supply quick, ample and reliable transportation. It also recognizes a further obligation—to aid in the development of the territory it serves. The railroad prospers and its business grows as its territory develops.

The best assurance of permanent prosperity is a development balanced between agriculture and industry. The Central of Georgia Railway has a Development Department with a force of trained and practical men whose services are at the disposal of the public, without charge. These men devote their entire time to building up agriculture and industry in the states served by the Central of Georgia. While this work is the especial function of the Development Department the officers and employees of other departments take keen and active interest in all matters that have to do with the progress of the South-east.

While keeping always in mind the basic requirement of prompt, adequate and reliable transportation, there are many other things that a railroad can do to advance the interests of its territory. It is interesting to note the wide field of constructive work that is open to a railroad that believes in the territory it serves and the people with whom it does business. Advertising through the printed and spoken word centers attention upon natural resources, manufacturing opportunities, business possibilities and climatic advantages. The Central of Georgia, for instance, is now engaged in an extensive advertising campaign to make the public familiar with the opportunities for successful ceramic and textile manufacture in this section. Before engaging in this campaign facts were established by careful research work conducted by the railway. The Industrial Department works with chambers of commerce and civic organizations in attracting new industries and in securing new residents.

The Agricultural Department cooperates with the farmers as they diversify their crops. It shares in the expense of experimental work that promises increased per acre profit to the farmer. It places at their disposal a study and a knowledge of approved and advanced methods.

The railway's Freight Traffic Department endeavors to establish and maintain freight rates that will place and keep enterprises in this territory on a fair competitive basis. Shippers are assured of ample car supply and are given complete information as to shipments.

The Passenger Traffic Department, through its agents throughout the country and by widespread advertising, encourages tourists, vacation visitors and homeseekers to come to the Southeast. Cheap excursions are operated frequently and low fares are made for week-end trips and for the resort season.

There are many things that the various departments of the Central of Georgia can do, and are doing, to promote development. The public has shown its appreciation of this practice by according the Central of Georgia a liberal share of its business. The Central's revenue tonnage has increased 136 per cent during the past ten years—a gain well above the average increase of Southeastern railroads.

The Central of Georgia takes real pride and finds genuine satisfaction in promoting, by every means in its power, the development of its territory. It acknowledges with sincere thanks the approval of its patrons—which has been evidenced in many ways. It promises to continue and to increase its efforts, both to give courteous and efficient transportation service and to build up the country.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. DOWNS,

President, Central of Georgia Railway Company,

Tiger Flowers Battles McCreary Here Tonight

Fight Board Selects Referee for Scrap At City Auditorium

Jake Abel is Picked by Commission To Be Third Man in Ring With Champion and Foe—Thirty Rounds of Boxing is Carded.

Salient facts concerning the fight at the city auditorium tonight are as follows:
Place—City auditorium.
Time—First match starts at 8:30 o'clock.
General admission tickets may be had at Chess' Place up until 6:30 o'clock. General admission and reserved tickets will be placed on sale at the auditorium at 6:30 o'clock.
Main event (ten rounds) Tiger Flowers, middleweight champion of the world vs. Battling McCreary, Boston.
Semi-windup (ten rounds), Hollis Sullivan, Marietta, vs. Tommy Jones, New York.
Preliminaries (six rounds), Kid Maceo vs. Battling Kelly, (four rounds) Harry Fisher vs. Mike Lewis.
Referee—Jake Abel.

A referee for the Tiger Flowers-Battling McCreary fight at the city auditorium tonight, having been selected by the boxing commission yesterday everything is in readiness for Flowers' first appearance in an Atlanta ring since he won the middleweight championship of the world from Harry Greb some months ago. Incidentally this will also be Flowers' last fight before he defends that same title against Greb in New York on August 19.
The commission at its meeting decided on Jake Abel, former fighter, as the referee for the match. In so doing it ignored Walk Miller's insistent request that Ray Brown, former welterweight champion and nationally known ring official be brought here to serve as third man. Abel is an efficient sort of official who insists that the fighters put forth their best efforts from start to finish.
Flowers remained over in Atlanta for the fight in the face of a protest from the New York promoters, who wanted the champion to come on to New York and start training for Greb. The champion will make a hurried departure from Atlanta early Wednesday.
Fulfills Promise.

ALL FAVORITES WIN MATCHES IN NET TESTS

Forest Hill, N. Y., August 9.—(AP) America's veteran international tennis tests today with three hard-fought victories on the turf courts of the West Side Tennis club.
A trio of youthful candidates for places on the defending team pressed R. Norris Williams, William T. Tilden and William M. Johnston to bring off their triumphs, but Williams was the only veteran apparently on the brink of defeat. George Lott, of Chicago, carried him to three sets and was leading in the final set at five games to three when the American cup team captain rallied brilliantly to save the match by winning four straight games, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Tilden also required an extra set to defeat Edward G. Chandler, of California, intercollegiate champion, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2, while Johnston's terrific forehanders decided his battle with Alfred H. Chappin, Jr., of Springfield, Mass., 6-4, 7-5.

Tilden and Johnston then took the court as a doubles team and went down to defeat in a battle of attrition with Vincent Richards and R. Norris Williams, the national champions, 6-4, 9-7.

In a second doubles encounter, Chandler and Lewis took the match before Vincent Richards and Chapin and Lott, 6-3, 10-8.

Vincent Richards, who reported an injury to his leg yesterday in the southern New York state championship at Rye, N. Y., cancelled his test match today against White.

He said he would be unable to fulfill his singles schedule in the finals of the next two days, although the Davis cup selection committee announced he had been requested to do so.

Richards complained of being "over-tired" as a result of his two weeks' play in the Metropolitan and Seabright events. Rumblings of dissatisfaction among the veteran players over being required to play through the tests came to the surface in a protest from Tilden. The national champion pressed the opinion that the committee could have obtained test information from the matches in progress at the Rye tournament. He also objected to limitation of the doubles tests to two sets out of three, basing his protest on the ground that conditions similar to those in the actual Davis cup competition should prevail in the trials.

As a result of the complaint, an announcement was made by the tennis officials that succeeding doubles tests against White, Johnston against Lott and Williams against Chapin. The doubles schedule of today will be repeated tomorrow and Wednesday.

Tomorrow's singles matches pit Richards against Chandler, Tilden against White, Johnston against Lott and Williams against Chapin. The doubles schedule of today will be repeated tomorrow and Wednesday.

Will Have Hands Full.
However, you can depend on Flowers exerting all of his skill and speed to avoid being kayoed. Such a happening would be well-nigh fatal, coming on the eve of the return match with Greb. Should McCreary knock Flowers out his victory would be of the moral variety as Flowers' championship is not at stake. They are fighting at catch weights.

McCreary is plenty able to take all of the punishment that Flowers does out to his opponents. The big Boston negro stayed up under Harry Williams' blistering attack for eight rounds. That was back in the days when Williams was younger and more agile. McCreary in his own right has defeated practically all of the fighters who have fallen victim to Flowers' prowess and he holds victories over some boxers who have never met Flowers.

McCreary's advantage in weight (he is 25 pounds heavier than Flowers) will inspire the champion to greater and faster efforts. Flowers fights best against just an opponent.

General tickets for the fight will go on sale at Chess' Place at 1:30 o'clock today and the sale will be transferred to the city auditorium box office at 6:30 o'clock tonight. A general rush is expected for the popular-priced tickets.

Promoter Billy Lotz yesterday declared that he had asked the police department to have 25 officers at the auditorium to handle the ticket buyers and the crowd during and after the fight. While the fans will go to the auditorium mainly to see the world's champion in action, there are hundreds who will be attracted by the desire to see

General tickets for the fight will go on sale at Chess' Place at 1:30 o'clock today and the sale will be transferred to the city auditorium box office at 6:30 o'clock tonight. A general rush is expected for the popular-priced tickets.

Promoter Billy Lotz yesterday declared that he had asked the police department to have 25 officers at the auditorium to handle the ticket buyers and the crowd during and after the fight. While the fans will go to the auditorium mainly to see the world's champion in action, there are hundreds who will be attracted by the desire to see

McCreary's prowess and he holds victories over some boxers who have never met Flowers.

McCreary's advantage in weight (he is 25 pounds heavier than Flowers) will inspire the champion to greater and faster efforts. Flowers fights best against just an opponent.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Concerning Publicity.

"In this corner, Ladies and Gentlemen, we have Tex Rickard, winner of the world's heavyweight publicity bout." Thus should the announcer announce if the inevitable Tex should take a corner in the Yankee stadium next month.

We read with no little relief and no few misgivings that today is the day for the final solution of the pugilistic puzzle which has been making raving maniacs of sporting editors and making millionaires of a couple of box fighters and a promoter over a period of two years; more or less.

Just what these two box fighters will be is still questionable. To be sure, the members of the New York boxing commission have agreed that Gene Tunney, one time "Devil dog," and Jack Dempsey will be the favored ones. But Colonel John J. Phelan has not yet decided who will get the license. Colonel John has been away at national guard camp for a couple of weeks and presumably has learned to obey the orders of higher-ups. In this case Jack and Gene will undoubtedly tote away their permits tonight for many are the powers who are interested in seeing the heavyweight battle in New York.

Of course—it may develop that there has not been enough publicity on the bout and the Colonel may insist that Jack fight Jim Jeffries of some other young, able-bodied contender. One can never tell when the New York commissioners and Tex Rickard get their heads together.

Whatever the decision of the license committee—and but one decision is probable—it is not to be forgotten that Tex Rickard has played his hand to perfection. He held the cards and he made his play in winning style. Threatening to take the fight to every point in the United States from Kokomo to Key West was all the bunk, but at the same time the commission knew HE COULD DO IT IF HE WANTED TO. That was the ace in the hole in Mr. Rickard's layout.

And what is the result? All that is left to insure the fight for New York is the granting of licenses by the board today. We do not suggest or advocate betting BUT if you can find a "fish" lay all you have at any odds that Mr. Rickard will win this final round just as he has all the others.

It is not to be forgotten that all of this Billy-hoo has meant column after column in every paper in the United States. That never before has a championship bout been attended with so much free publicity. All of which means shekels in the pockets of Mr. Rickard and his charges.

So much for the greatest of all promoters and the most accommodating of all boxing commissions.

Busy Channel.

From now on, those aspiring aquatic stars who attempt to duplicate the feat of Miss Ederle and fail, will have a glorious alibi. And the reason is that the English channel is not supplied with traffic officers.

So many swimmers are entering the Channel these days that swimming is almost impossible due to the heavy waves caused by the churning of so many extremities in the water.

It is reported that one of the trans-channel steamers pulled up and dropped anchor to watch the antics of a school of porpoises only to find that the splashing was caused by a party of 32 men and women and children trying to swim the channel.

MISS RYAN MAY ENTER PRO RANKS

New York, August 9.—After the women's national tennis championship at Forest Hills next week, Miss Elizabeth Ryan may announce her acceptance of an offer to turn professional and provide Suzanne Lenglen with competition when that temperamental young woman tours the United States in the fall.

For the present the California star is maintaining a discreet silence concerning a report that C. C. Pyle has offered her $100,000 to become Suzanne's professional opponent.

Naturally, Miss Ryan's success in the national singles championship will affect her market value. Naturally, too, she does not want to turn pro before she has a try for Helen Wills' crown.

It is significant that Miss Ryan and Miss Lenglen are close friends and former doubles partners. Also, the tall Californian is the only woman aside from Suzanne who has a clean slate of consecutive victories over Helen Wills. Miss Ryan and Miss Wills have met twice in tournament competition and the former has won both times.

With Helen obviously off her game, this may prove Miss Ryan's year at Forest Hills. If so, she might be worth money as Suzanne's partner.

As national champion Miss Ryan might prove a worthy member of Pyle's traveling tennis troupe, but as he already has promised Suzanne $100,000, he can have no such thing in mind for the American player.

One handicap is that Miss Ryan has no great public following.

Championship Fight Controversy To End Today in New York

Dempsey and Tunney To Appear Before State Commission For Licenses To Fight in New York—Rickard May Move Bout.

New York, August 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney expect to find out tomorrow whether or not they will be permitted to fight for the heavyweight championship of the world at the Yankee stadium on September 16.

The champion and his challenger, matched by Tex Rickard for the first title match in three years, will appear personally before the state athletic commission and its all-powerful license committee in an effort to obtain the necessary licenses for their pending battle.

The commission already has approved the match by a two-to-one vote, but the attitude of the license committee has been shrouded in such doubt that it has held up virtually all preparations for the bout, pending its decision. This committee acts independently of the commission.

Declares Bout On.
Tex Rickard believes the licenses will be forthcoming but he is preparing for eventualities. After a conference with Dempsey today, the promoter declared:

"The fight will be held on September 16, whether or not the licenses are granted for it here. You can bet your bottom dollar on that. I'm not prepared to say what I'll do if the licenses are refused. I'll want to know on what grounds such action is based first before proceeding further."

It is generally believed that Rickard will turn to his Jersey City arena, Rosky's Chute Acres, if he is unable to utilize the Yankee stadium. He also has a bid to stage the bout in the sequel-centennial stadium at Philadelphia. Other action to force the issuance of licenses also was a possible avenue of procedure if the permits are refused.

The Misty Pathway

By FLORENCE RIDDELL

SYNOPSIS. Richenda Peterson, a London office girl, wins five thousand pounds in a newspaper contest and decides to spend her fortune in travel. The east coast of Africa holds the greatest promise of adventure to her, and she books passage for Port Mombasa. When the boat stops at Gibraltar Richenda goes off by herself to inspect the old town. She is accosted by a native, who frightens her. Angus Brodie, one of her fellow passengers, arrives at Mombasa, the first person Richenda sees in Brett Fairways, a guided explorer whose fate has haunted her dream. She is introduced to Fairways by Lucille Davenant, a widow, who has deliberately sought the acquaintance of the girl. Mrs. Davenant and Fairways invite Richenda to join them on a hunting expedition. They start the journey into the interior together.

INSTALLMENT XIV. INTO THE INTERIOR.

"Beturbaned Indian fought cheek by jowl with blanket clad Kikuyu in chattering confusion. Vendors of all sorts of odd articles wandered up and down the platform. Here a shaven headed woman decked in an Elizabethan ruff of wire circlets offered three scrawny hens in a flat, rush cage for sale.

"Take, take, memsahib," she implored Lucille. "Shillengee kuml." "And what," entreated Mrs. Davenant, "what in the name of Abraham is shillengee kuml?"

The bibi displayed ten stubby black fingers counting them painfully one by one.

"Hole-bill-lato-aena-lano—" "Now, my good dame, don't play this little piggy went to market," Fairways burst in. "We can do without your poultry but if you will oblige by piloting the gentleman with the bananas and mangoes along this way."

The person indicated had caught Fairways' eye and approached at a gallop, unceremoniously jostling the lady of the hens out of his path as he proffered clumps of rather ancient fruit.

Came next a native beggar child exhibiting areas of anatomy covered in loathsome disease.

"Centle! Centle!" he implored. Richenda tossed him a fifty-cent piece. "Here's sixpence," she cried. "You should not have done that," remonstrated Fairways. "These people are, no doubt, just as awake to the easiest way of earning an income as the beggars in India are. I've seen them in the Punjab as they exploited their misery in the market place. The missionaries used to implore them to come and be healed. But would they? Not so long as they could get a farthing by begging. That little fellow probably makes a good income out of passing trains."

Richenda spent many hours sitting in the lounge and watching this strange mixture of humanity pass by.

They watched the child curiously as he went along on his whining way. They saw nearly a dozen coins tinkle to the dust at his rag bound toes.

A fussy Indian station master was shouting the natives back to their seats. He wore a quaint mixture of European and babu clothing, his white draped dhoti flapping incongruously below his belted Norfolk jacket over a pair of bare coffee colored legs.

He saluted the little party as he found their eyes upon him, blew an enormous brass whistle grandiloquently, the loitering natives scattered to their bare planked third class carriages, and the train, with much grinding of axles, creaked forward again.

They were entering the plain land now. Mile upon mile of gently rolling grass lay open to their gaze.

"They said in Mombasa that the zoological side shows begin somewhere round here," remarked Fairways. "I believe it is the most thickly stocked game reserve in the world. Instead of counting white horses in the streets for luck as we did as kids, we'll be able to count the lions in a short while. Ten marks for a black-maned animal, five for a yellow mane, two for no mane at all," he added laughingly. "Got a bit of pencil, Lucille?"

"Shall we really see lions?" broke in Richenda in high excitement. "Not if they can help it," he teased her. "But it is all a matter of luck, you know. I met a man in Mombasa who'd been in Kenya for five solid years—up in the Highlands, too—and he'd never seen the whisk of a lion's tail. But when his girl came out to marry him she met five walking together before she had been a week in the country."

"Anyway, there's your first ostrich!" he pointed across the veld. "And a little deer—two—three—why, a whole crowd of them." Mrs. Davenant's voice rose to an excited shriek.

A whole riot of various animals passed before the windows then. Herd after herd of zebra and hartebeeste stood staring as the train went past or lolloped away as the spirit moved them. Ostriches, long necks stuck out straight line in front of them, sparse brownish feathers all a-flutter, streaked anxiously towards the horizon. Wildebeeste outposts stood none "up wind" on the outskirts of the feeding herds, and scores of buck of all sizes pranced cheerfully about, flickering white rabbitlike tails behind them. Here and there a long-legged secretary bird stalked with mincing gait.

It was a veritable paradise of the wild. But to Richenda's great disappointment no lion produced himself "Never mind," laughed Brett. "Wait till we get really up country and in camp at night. You'll see their big eyes shining closer to you than in comfortable, maybe."

Richenda was disappointed in the capital of Kenya colony. She disliked the queer medley of wood, iron and stone buildings which lay dotted over a reclaimed area of flat swampy plain, disliked the hard dusty streets flanked by wide open drains. But she found endless interest and amusement in watching pretty fluffy married women who drifted in for the 11 o'clock morning tea which is such an institution in the tropics—always escorted by a bevy of attendant cavaliers, the business men, hot and a little bored, the settlers, red-browed by outdoor life, clad in loose khaki shirts and shorts and dashing wide-brimmed felt hats. These drove up to the hotel from their far-off homes in antediluvian cars of all sizes and makes.

Richenda spent many hours sitting in the lounge and watching this strange mixture of humanity pass by. She had resolved that she would not give Fairways and Mrs. Davenant too much of her company, for that way lay the danger of boredom for them.

Also she had never quite been able to decide just what degree of friendship was between these two. Lucille seemed, with the fascinating imperiousness of a spoiled beauty, to demand a great deal of Fairways' attention. She gave him all sorts of orders which he good humoredly obeyed. He appeared to be fond of the pretty fair-haired woman. And she was obviously determined to keep him thoroughly at heel.

Richenda began to wonder if there really were no thought of marriage between the two. She admired Mrs. Davenant, liked her, too—Lucille usually began by making the people she intended to use for her own purposes feel genuine affection for her—but yet, there was something in the blue eyes of this woman which repelled Richenda—a curious cold hardness, which weighed one up—while calculated. Those eyes, too, were set a shade too closely together for absolute beauty. Then the mouth—lovely in laughter—perfect in its smile—was in repose a little tight. Once Richenda had seen it drawn into an ugly vicious line which startled her. That was when Fairways had been late in meeting them at a tea shop in the town. Richenda noticed that the moment he appeared Lucille's lips broke into their usually charming smile, but the girl could not forget the memory of that sudden cruel, sinister expression: There had been something oddly wolfish about it—something that suddenly made one wonder if the real personality of this woman were hidden by that charming, friendly air which might be only a mask. Richenda was a little horrified when she found herself thinking these things.

ONE of the costliest items in the style of a shoe is the "last" or form over which the upper leather is fitted. The Beacon Shoe Company spends thousands of dollars keeping up to the minute in this one item of lasts. If you doubt their importance, think back to the long pointed flat toed models of a few years ago and compare them with the snappy new short vamps predicted for the fall of 1936.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Annie Kivinski of 536 1st Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her housework. She saw the name Lydia E. With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren take an active part in church and civic affairs. Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion

By IRENE CASTLE

Copyrighted 1926 by F. O. Beauty Features

Take Care What Kind of soap touches your face

The kind beauty experts use themselves—how to use

To endanger a good complexion with an unproved soap is a folly. The only kind of soap to use on your face is a true complexion soap. Some soaps that are excellent in many ways are too harsh for the skin.

Launder, scrub, with any soap you wish. But if you desire a good complexion is your aim, take care. Use a soap made to protect it.

Thus Palmolive is so widely urged... a soap made solely for one purpose: to protect the complexion. A soap made by experts in beauty to be used freely and lavishly on the skin.

The accepted beauty method today is the simple rule that follows: Nature's formula to "Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion." Leading skin experts urge. Thousands of beautiful complexions prove its results.

Follow this rule one week—Note the improvement that comes

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not use any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

Atlanta's Younger Set Enjoys August in the Mountains

Ashville, N. C., August 9.—The arrival of a gay company of the younger set has signalled the height of the summer social season at Grove Park Inn, and Atlanta is conspicuously represented in this group.

They are "all over the place," enlivening the golf courses, the Saturday night dance, the horseback trails. They are figuring prominently in the North Carolina state tennis tournament at Asheville Country club, which opened Monday, and the fourth annual invitation golf tournament at Biltmore Forest Country club.

In the former, Frank (Hop) Owens, who will defend his state title won last year, will be the bright particular star, and advance information names John Temple Graves as his most serious opponent.

Atlanta contenders listed in the golf tournament include Whitey Gunn, Louis M. Gaines, W. A. Fuller, Charles Nunnally, Hugh Nunnally, J. W. West, E. A. Nunnally, S. T. Cooper, Hugh Carter, W. C. Davis, Sam DuBose, G. H. Willis, Jr., W. A. Ward, C. W. Nichols, R. A. Duke, Ben Wilkinson, H. W. Wager, J. I. Williams, Jr.

The bachelor element among the younger set at the inn is in the majority, among them being E. A. Thorne, Samuel Inman Cooper, C. M. Foster, Hugh Carter, Jr., John Grant, Jr., William Healey, Oliver Healey, Edward Van Winkle, Homer Howell, Charles B. Nunnally, Richard L. Hull, Berry Grant, Kells Boland, Nalon Curtis and others.

Miss Josephine Connors, of Birmingham, is cheered by Atlanta's younger element, which includes, in addition to the bachelor group listed above, Miss Nancy Carr, Mrs. Hugh Richardson, Jr., who is at the inn with her mother, Mrs. Reuben Arnold; Mr. and Mrs. Sam DuBose, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Davis and others.

Miss Kate Allen, of Buford, with her sister, Mrs. W. H. Booth, of Shreveport, La., are attractive figures in the same set.

Other recent arrivals from Atlanta at Park Inn are Mrs. J. Carroll Paine with her grandchildren, Helen Smith, Laura Smith and Carroll Hopkins; Mrs. John J. Woodside, Mrs. Mary Whitmore, Miss Virginia Whitmore, Judge and Mrs. Frank Harwell, Paul Harwell, Dr. Ben Jones, Dr. Caldwell Holliday, Mrs. Clark Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Arnold, Rev. Richard Orme Flinn, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Nich-

FOREST BLAZES THIS YEAR COST STATE $100,000

Answers to questionnaires sent out by B. M. Lufburrow, state forester, indicate that since January 1, 1926, approximately 40,000 acres of Georgia timberland have been burned, resulting in a loss to owners and to the state of about $100,000, Mr. Lufburrow has announced.

In order that the state forestry board may have more complete statistics on the damage done in Georgia by forest fires, E. W. Hadler, new assistant state forester, has gone to south Georgia, where he will spend a month gathering information on the subject, Mr. Lufburrow said.

Mr. Lufburrow and B. H. Stone, of Blairsville, state forestry board chairman, will go to Brunswick and Jekyll island this week, where with local citizens they will work out plans for the reforestation of the island, it was said.

Mrs. Shelton and Mrs. Lane Stokes To Be Honored

Mrs. W. A. Shelton will entertain at a reception Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at her home, 600 Ponce de Leon avenue, the occasion commemorating her attractive daughter, Mrs. A. S. Shelton, of Charlotte, N. C., and Mrs. Lane Stokes, of Baton Rouge, La., who are among the August visitors in Atlanta.

Mrs. Homer Thompson and Mrs. L. L. Holmes will serve punch from an artistically decorated bowl placed in the sun room, and Miss Lillian Roberts will assist the hostess in entertaining.

A native of Buford, Ga., Mr. Swords came to Atlanta 26 years ago and has been foreman of the Phoenix Planing Mill company for many years. He was a member of the Druid Hills Baptist church and a member of Fulton lodge, No. 32, I. O. O. F.

CANDLER OFFERS BOND BODY USE OF SUITE OF ROOMS

William Candler, former chairman of the Atlanta bond commission, who resigned last week because of pressure of personal business affairs, Monday offered through Henderson Hallman, secretary of the commission, the suite of rooms at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel which has been used as headquarters since the commission was first organized.

This will be without cost to the commission as it was when Mr. Candler headed the organization, according to a letter which Mr. Candler sent to Mr. Hallman. Mr. Candler's letter will be read at the next meeting of the commission and his offer undoubtedly will be accepted. Certain office furnishings which were supplied without cost by the Ivan-Allen-Marshall company also are expected to be used by the commission.

Mr. Candler expresses regret at having to sever his connection with the commission and offers any personal assistance possible in handling the problems which confront the bond body, which will supervise expenditure of the $5,000,000 bond issue voted for civic improvements by Atlantians on March 24.

Frank Neely has been named to head the commission, and has accepted the post with the statement that the policies espoused under Mr. Candler's regime will be carried out.

COOLIDGES RETURN TO WHITE PINE CAMP

Paul Smith's, N. Y., August 9.—President and Mrs. Coolidge have returned to the summer-white house, where a season of entertaining faces them.

After four days of absolute seclusion in the president's boyhood home in Plymouth, Vt., broken only by a fifty-minute visit of Representative Tilson, republican floor leader, and his family, the executive couple immediately became hosts to Chief Justice Hughes, of the Massachusetts supreme court, and Mrs. Rugg. The Huggs arrived at the camp several hours before their hosts.

The president seemed considerably exhilarated by his visit. On the return trip he came out on the rear platform at every stop and several times entered into conversation with bystanders, a most rare occurrence.

Arriving at the camp he conducted his visitors around, showing them his favorite fishing spots, and even exhibiting his fishing tackle.

Although expected to come to the executive office to inspect his mail, he remained at camp, and only the most important messages were sent to him.

General Lord, director of the budget, will be a visitor Wednesday. He will be followed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who will spend the week-end at the camp before leaving for California for the summer.

New Move Made By Whittemore To Save His Life

Baltimore, August 9.—(AP)—Judge Robert F. Station in city court late today granted an application for a hearing next Wednesday to show cause why a writ of habeas corpus should not be issued in the case of Richard Roca Whittemore, sentenced to hang Friday.

The hearing was granted on application of a negro lawyer, acting independent of Whittemore's counsel. Whittemore signed the application papers in his death cell today. Legal authorities were skeptical that the move would have any bearing on the case. Whittemore is to die for the slaying of Robert H. Holtzman, a Maryland penitentiary guard.

MEN'S CHOIR SINGS FOR RADER REVIVAL

The men's chorus of the East Point Baptist church will sing at a special feature of tonight's service in the Rader revival air-drome on Forsyth street, opposite the Whitehall street intersection, it was announced Monday by the Rev. Luke Rader, evangelist and pastor.

The entire chorus of 40 voices will participate in special choral singing and in leading congregational singing, which will be directed by Rev. Ralph Rader, brother of the evangelist.

The service will mark the opening of the third week of the outdoor revival campaign, which had weathered forced indoors in the Central Baptist church for 3 out of the first 11 scheduled services. Services will be held at 7:30 nightly, except Monday and Saturday, for the next two weeks.

Rev. Rader announced Monday that he would preach each night this week on the practical answers given by Christianity to the most vital personal problems of the day. His subject tonight will be "Why Men Fall." Wednesday "Are You a Go-Getter or a Goat-Getter?" Thursday "Who Gets in 'Who's Who'?" Friday "Better Business" and Sunday "Happy Home, How?" Each sermon will be preceded by a 10-minute talk by an Atlanta business man on his personal experience in finding Christianity.

New York, August 9.—(P)—A severe break followed the publication of the government crop report in the cotton market here today. December contracts sold off from 17.20 to 16.10 and closed at 16.10. The general market closing at set declines of 33 to 38 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 5 points. There was some selling but it was quite readily absorbed by covering and the market held fairly steady during the early trading. On the whole, however, pre-bureau liquidation seemed to dominate the tone of the market and prices were about 10 to 11 points lower when trading was suspended to receive the government report.

The latter placing the condition of the crop at 15,821,000 bales and indicated a yield at 15,821,000 bales was evidently a surprise to the trade, as the private reports received issued on the average, had pointed to a yield of only 14,884,000 bales. Selling was active and general when the market reopened after the publication of the statement and prices were about 10 to 11 points lower when trading was suspended to receive the government report.

The Day in Finance BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, August 9.—General Motors continued to dominate the stock market and continued to be the subject of most of the Wall Street discussion. This stock, after having established a new high record at the close of the market Saturday at 217, opened this morning at 220 and with the volume of trading enormous quickly advanced to 223. This price, compared with last week's low of 190 and with the year's low of 113 1/4 made at the end of March. Around noon, with 221 appearing on the tape, word came from the stock exchange floor that 224 was being bid for General Motors.

Irregularly developed in the stock market early in the day a profit taking. There is not the slightest doubt in well-informed quarters here that distribution has been going on throughout the stock market for days under the stimulating influence of the sensational advance in General Motors. The market acted very well today in view of the heavy profit taking that occurred.

Even in the most conservative quarters of Wall Street, where friends and clients are being advised to take profits and leave the stock market alone if stocks have not already been purchased, it is admitted that the stock market has all the appearance of going higher. The stock market in this connection is compared with the engine in an automobile. Up to the present time it is generally admitted that the stock market engine is running smoothly without even the suggestion of any "knock." Early in the year conservative brokers and bankers in Wall Street advised their clients to hold their money and stay out of the market, mainly because it was realized that brokers' loans as well as stock prices were at a new high level, entirely too high. There is no reason to believe that the situation which is considerably below the high for early this year. The general financial and industrial situation, it is felt, is in a position to support the optimistic financial statements are made. The only possible cloud is the political outlook and the new trend in the average price of commodities.

U. S. Steel Orders.
Tomorrow's statement of unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation for the month of July is now expected to show an increase of 150,000 tons. If there is an increase it will be the first monthly increase reported since last December. Early in the year the corporation's orders were expected. During July, however, there was a marked change for the better in the steel and iron situation and orders.

Speculative Wall Street is divided as to what will be done by the General Motors directors at the quarterly dividend meeting to be held Thursday. Many people are expecting a 50 per cent stock dividend with possibly an extra cash dividend. There are some people in Wall Street, however, who believe distribution of long stocks picked up in the decline last March and since by strong interests has not been completed, and that hence the declaration of the expected General Motors stock dividend will be postponed until later in the year.

There is no question from the balance sheet and supplementary earnings statement published today by President Sloan, of General Motors, that General Motors could declare the expected dividend. For the first half of 1929 the company earned a surplus for dividends of $3,285,000, which is equal to $17.34 on the outstanding common stock which compares with $30,308,000 for the corresponding period of 1928, when $9.02 was earned. Earnings for the first half of 1929 amounted to $1,111,000, with the full twelve months of 1929, when $19.15 was earned for the common stock. The company's current assets on June 30 amounted up to $25,916,000, with current liabilities at $11,944,000, making net working capital of $13,972,000 against $181,000,000 on December 31 last. Cash on June 30 stood at $146,000,000, with government securities at $28,865,000 and notes and accounts receivable $28,000,000.

One of the conservative banking houses here points out that comment on the general business situation is forced upon the market by the fact that in principal lines of industry for this time of year, the percentage of capacity employed in steel for example, has been running at 70 per cent of last year, adding: "This is probably due in the main to two causes: First, the continuation of the English coal strike which has rather abnormally stimulated the export market, and secondly, to the fact that when it was found that prices did not decline as the summer advanced, consumers began more freely to anticipate their needs." The conclusion is then reached that "the stock market advance in operations in the fall months, as has been usual in former years, does not seem reasonable, for the simple reason that the market is not in a position to recover from; indeed, if the English coal strike should be settled there might even be some recession."

The company's current assets on June 30 amounted up to $25,916,000, with current liabilities at $11,944,000, making net working capital of $13,972,000 against $181,000,000 on December 31 last. Cash on June 30 stood at $146,000,000, with government securities at $28,865,000 and notes and accounts receivable $28,000,000.

One of the conservative banking houses here points out that comment on the general business situation is forced upon the market by the fact that in principal lines of industry for this time of year, the percentage of capacity employed in steel for example, has been running at 70 per cent of last year, adding: "This is probably due in the main to two causes: First, the continuation of the English coal strike which has rather abnormally stimulated the export market, and secondly, to the fact that when it was found that prices did not decline as the summer advanced, consumers began more freely to anticipate their needs." The conclusion is then reached that "the stock market advance in operations in the fall months, as has been usual in former years, does not seem reasonable, for the simple reason that the market is not in a position to recover from; indeed, if the English coal strike should be settled there might even be some recession."

General Motors continued to dominate the stock market and continued to be the subject of most of the Wall Street discussion. This stock, after having established a new high record at the close of the market Saturday at 217, opened this morning at 220 and with the volume of trading enormous quickly advanced to 223. This price, compared with last week's low of 190 and with the year's low of 113 1/4 made at the end of March. Around noon, with 221 appearing on the tape, word came from the stock exchange floor that 224 was being bid for General Motors.

Irregularly developed in the stock market early in the day a profit taking. There is not the slightest doubt in well-informed quarters here that distribution has been going on throughout the stock market for days under the stimulating influence of the sensational advance in General Motors. The market acted very well today in view of the heavy profit taking that occurred.

Even in the most conservative quarters of Wall Street, where friends and clients are being advised to take profits and leave the stock market alone if stocks have not already been purchased, it is admitted that the stock market has all the appearance of going higher. The stock market in this connection is compared with the engine in an automobile. Up to the present time it is generally admitted that the stock market engine is running smoothly without even the suggestion of any "knock." Early in the year conservative brokers and bankers in Wall Street advised their clients to hold their money and stay out of the market, mainly because it was realized that brokers' loans as well as stock prices were at a new high level, entirely too high. There is no reason to believe that the situation which is considerably below the high for early this year. The general financial and industrial situation, it is felt, is in a position to support the optimistic financial statements are made. The only possible cloud is the political outlook and the new trend in the average price of commodities.

U. S. Steel Orders.
Tomorrow's statement of unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation for the month of July is now expected to show an increase of 150,000 tons. If there is an increase it will be the first monthly increase reported since last December. Early in the year the corporation's orders were expected. During July, however, there was a marked change for the better in the steel and iron situation and orders.

Speculative Wall Street is divided as to what will be done by the General Motors directors at the quarterly dividend meeting to be held Thursday. Many people are expecting a 50 per cent stock dividend with possibly an extra cash dividend. There are some people in Wall Street, however, who believe distribution of long stocks picked up in the decline last March and since by strong interests has not been completed, and that hence the declaration of the expected General Motors stock dividend will be postponed until later in the year.

There is no question from the balance sheet and supplementary earnings statement published today by President Sloan, of General Motors, that General Motors could declare the expected dividend. For the first half of 1929 the company earned a surplus for dividends of $3,285,000, which is equal to $17.34 on the outstanding common stock which compares with $30,308,000 for the corresponding period of 1928, when $9.02 was earned. Earnings for the first half of 1929 amounted to $1,111,000, with the full twelve months of 1929, when $19.15 was earned for the common stock. The company's current assets on June 30 amounted up to $25,916,000, with current liabilities at $11,944,000, making net working capital of $13,972,000 against $181,000,000 on December 31 last. New York, August 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Bullish enthusiasm ran rampant in today's stock market. Wall Street literally flooded with rumors of mergers, stock splits and increased dividends, speculators for the advance, aided by relatively easy money rates, and little difficulty in marking up scores of issues 1 to 18 points. At the close the average of 20 leading industrial issues stood at a new high level for all time, while the average of 20 leading rails was at the highest figures since 1913. Commission houses reported a marked expansion in public interest, which was reflected in total sales of well over two million shares.

General Motors common and United States Steel common again established new record high prices at 223 1/4 and 155 1/4, respectively. Motors later sold down to 222, where it was up 5 points on the day, while United States Steel common closed at 154 1/4, up 3 1/4. Directors of the General Motors corporation met Thursday, and Wall Street hears that a stock dividend of 50 or 100 per cent will be declared, together with an extra cash dividend of at least $4. Barring of Steel was influenced by predictions that the July unfilled tonnage statement, to be issued at noon tomorrow, would show an increase of around 150,000 tons, which would be the first gain this year.

Publication of another series of semi-annual dividend statements this morning, which showed a wide spread of the first six months. Among the companies whose earnings fell below first half of 1928 were Foundation, Ludlum Steel, Fairbanks, International Cement and National Enameling and Stamping. On the other hand, substantial gains were reported by American Steel Foundries, Sch

Rialto Theater.

Not in a long time has such interest been manifested in a motion picture in Atlanta as was that shown in "Outside the Law," which was re-run and brought back to the Rialto theater for showing this week. Large crowds witnessed the opening of its run there yesterday.

While it no doubt is true that the movies have made great strides in the last few years, in the opinion of this reviewer it will take a few more years for a crook melodrama to be produced that can stride with "Outside the Law."

The thrill-bound audiences at the Rialto Monday seemed to share this opinion, for everywhere were heard gasps of admiration produced by the striking beauty of Priscilla Dean in the character of Silky Mall; comments of amazement at the marvelous dual role played by Lon Chaney, and intermittent shocks created by the power of this sensational drama, "Outside the Law."

which was written and directed by Tod Browning.

There are thrilling scenes galore in "Outside the Law," scenes that keep one tense and keyed up with excitement. Their effect is powerful, indeed.

And yet there are other scenes in "Outside the Law," which have not all element of thrill in them, but have a quiet "pull" that make them tremendously compelling. Such scenes are those centering around Silky Mall and the melting of her icy heart by Little Bill.

"Shivering Spooks" is the Our Gang comedy. Pathe News is shown.

The Metropolitan.

"The Sporting Lover," one of the best pictures to come this way for some time, occupies the Metropolitan screen this week. Conway Tencie and Barbara Bedford are starred, but Arthur Rankin will compare favorably with the two featured players.

"The Sporting Lover" concerns, in its reels, the fate of a certain Irishman who happens, at the opening of the picture, to be in a financial straits.

It is during the world war that this lovable Irishman meets, in a hospital, the sister of the man he had saved from death. The meeting part about the whole thing is that he doesn't know the pretty nurse is the sister of his pal.

When he discovers that she is, then an accident tears them apart. It is several years later that the man, after months of search, discovers his beloved in the garden of his pal. Not knowing of the relationship, he takes her into his arms and his heart, thinking her to be a gardener's daughter.

Strongheart, which is now being shown at the Tudor theater. "North Star" is the story of a man forced to flee through the treachery of his friends, find safety in the north, and of the dog, which saved his master when danger threatened. Thrills and suspense are plentiful in the picture.

VARIETY FEATURES

AT LOEW'S GRAND

Dance, song, humor and acrobatics run throughout the brilliant program for this week at Loew's Grand, in which a series of variegated sketches follow each other in a rapid succession that leads the audience through a variety of the most popular and entertaining features of the day.

In the last act, the Miller Sisters Revue, the on-lookers get a bit of nearly all the types of amusement of the light variety that the stage has to offer. The Miller Sisters are versatile to the last degree and have with them a group of six others from whom they are well able to call the support that extraneous demands. Expertly presented with a lavish setting of colorful costumes and scenery, their act includes original narrative songs, novel dances, a harmonious piano, violin and cello trio and tempting pulchritude. It concludes a show that sends the audience humming and strutting on its homeward way.

'MANTRAP' FEATURE

OF WELL-BALANCED HOWARD PROGRAM

Sisclair Lewis, Clara Bow, Percy Marmont, Ernest Torrence, John Murray Anderson, Melvin P. Ogden and the weather man of the Howard theater were responsible for an excellent evening's entertainment at that theater Monday night, the same factors being slated to finish out the week at the popular Public house.

It is a program that has been aptly termed "well-balanced," if that adjective had not already been applied to the program by the Howard theater.

"Mantrap," the latest work of Sisclair Lewis is the picture. It is not an epic, nor even a picture that will be remembered as a great length of time, but it is pleasing—which is box-office sufficient.

Leaving criticism of the story to more able hands than these, the characterizations are perfect. Ernest Torrence is sufficiently ugly and comical to portray the role of Joe Easter, the woodman who takes unto himself a wife—said wife being in the unique patois of the modern era, a "hot number."

The role of Alevra is light enough to allow Clara Bow to depart with honors in that character and Percy Marmont is again seen in the role of a "hot number."

Joseph Littau, wielding the usual talented baton, presents selections from "The Merry Widows" as the overture in good measure.
